To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to you on behalf of Bree Holcombe and her ability to excel within the arts, specifically as a gifted performer. As Bree's acting teacher, the most important thing I can convey about Bree is the passion that I believe she embodies for the arts as a whole.

In addition to being a gifted performer, Bree is eager to learn and quick to absorb, always asking important and pertinent questions that help her grow as an artist on a daily basis. She is a powerful actor and artist and is a strong communicator with all those that she works with. Bree's strengths include a powerful instrument, knowledge of both stage and film, and an uncanny ability to build an incredibly strong inner life, enabling her to execute the tiniest nuanced moments that truly bring her work alive.

I believe in Bree's future as an artist and know that regardless as to which path she chooses, she will always bring a great energy and attitude with her, further enriching the experience for all of her future colleagues and instructors.

It is with pleasure and confidence that I strongly recommend Bree Holcombe, both as a fantastic artist, and as a wonderful colleague and person. I whole heartedly believe in Bree and her talent and know from my experience, as her teacher, that she would be a beautiful addition to any artistic endeavor.

Sincerely,
Benjy Dobrin
